Dear Bud,

Enclosed are copies of some of thei letters I've written since getting home. Perhaps their content will interest you.

On the way home, I wondered if you are fully aware of the conflicting literary interests of some of the people you went to bring together? Lane is not the only literary lightfingers. This can be a problem for you and for others. While it might be understood that each would respect the rights of the others to his own meterial, I think it is not ~~etim~~ all certain that all would abide by this. There is nothing in the record of some to encourage this belief. Conversely, some can be trusted with anything. I do it all the time.

Can you please get and send me a copy of the FBI annual report?

If you have Lifton's thing, can you please send me copies of the Liebeler memo? I have the rest and have for a while.

You did not get a chance to make the phone call for the equipment while I was there. Please do as soon as you can. Its utility can be great, make feasible things otherwise impossible. Each place I'll be I'll have any requisite help. Particularly can this be vital on that part of the trip you have made possible, if you think of what I told you I plan.

If I write Liebeler in the a.m. or before mail time, I'll include a copy. I may yet do it tonight before I ppop out.

Sincerely,
